Plaintiff MUST keep the Clerk of Court notified of any change of address due to transfer or release. If plaintiff fails to keep the Clerk informed of such changes, this action may be dismissed.

B. Defendant(s):

Plaintiff is advised that only persons acting under color of state law are proper defendants under section 1983. The Commonwealth of Virginia is immune under the Eleventh Amendment. Private parties such as attorneys and other inmates may not be sued under section 1983. In addition, liability under section 1983 requires personal action by the defendant that caused you harm. Normally, the Director of the Department of Corrections, wardens and sheriffs are not liable under section 1983 just because they supervise persons who may have violated your rights. These persons are liable only if they were personally involved in the alleged deprivation. In addition, prisons, jails, and departments within an institution are not persons under section 1983.

OPHELIA AZRIEL DE'LONTA, Plaintiff,	}
v. GENE JOHNSON, Director, Virginia Department of Corrections, et al., Defendants.	Civil Action No. 1:1/ev/3975e/7cs

NATURE OF THIS ACTION

- 1. This is a civil rights action under U.S.C. § 1983 arising out of the deliberately indifferent denial of adequate medical treatment, alleging cruel and unusual punishment and denial of due process, in violation of the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States.
- 2. Plaintiff Ophelia Azriel De'lonta ("De'lonta") is in the custody of the Virginia Department of Corrections ("VADOC") under the control of defendant Gene Johnson ("Johnson").
- 3. De'lonta has been diagnosed with Gender Identity Disorder ("GID"), a condition which in her case has created a serious need for medical treatment.

- 17. Defendant Toney was, at all times relevant hereto, a counselor at Buckingham Correctional Center and a member of De'lonta's treatment team.
- 18. All defendants herein are sued in their individual and official capacities.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

- 19. This court has jurisdiction over the claims presented herein pursuant to 43 U.S.C. §§ 1331(a) and 1343.
- 20. This court has supplemental jurisdiction over De'lonta's state law tort claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

- 21. Plaintiff Ophelia Azriel De'lonta is a pre-operative transsexual female, who is serving a 73 year sentence with the possibility of parole for bank robbery.
- 22. De'lonta is also suffering from a severe form of a rare, medically recognized major illness known as Gender Identity Disorder ("GID").
- 23. De'lonta has believed that she is actually a female who has been cruelly trapped in a male's body ever since she was a little girl.
- 24. This belief has caused De'lonta to suffer constant mental anguish and, at times, abuse.
- 25. While incarcerated, it has also caused De'lonta, on several occasions, to attempt to castrate herself.
- 26. De'lonta has received hormone therapy for GID. De'lonta's treatment also consists of regular psychological counseling.
- 27. The hormone treatment has resulted in various physical changes to De'lonta's body, including enlargement of breasts, decreased body hair and change of voice intonation.
- 28. As a result of a civil action, 330 F.3d 630 (1999), and according to the settlement thereof, the VADOC has provided, and continue to provide, limited treatment. That lawsuit culminated in a settlement agreement which put Director Gene Johnson "on notice that De'lonta has a serious medical need which is currently not being properly treated." Therefore he has a responsibility to respond reasonably to it.

- 29. De'lonta has a serious medical need based on her diagnosis of GID. GID is defined as a major mental illness by the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual, Fourth Edition Text Revision ("DSM-IV-TR"). A transsexual, as the Supreme Court has described it, suffers from: "[a] rare psychiatric disorder in which a person feels persistently uncomfortable about her or his anatomical sex, and who typically seeks medical treatment, including hormone therapy and surgery, to bring about a permanent sex change."
- 30. De'lonta has had GID since her earliest memories.

 Substantial long-term history supports De'lonta's diagnosis with VADOC.
- 31. The agents and employees of VADOC, including defendants herein and medical professionals under contract to the VADOC, have acknowledged her diagnosis. Nonetheless, defendants have persistently denied De'lonta treatment.
- 32. De'lonta persistently feels like a woman trapped in a man's body. The failure to provide medical treatment to her will lead to serious bodily harm, untreated mental illness, depression, self-mutilation, and suicide.
- 33. The appropriate, generally accepted treatment for De'lonta includes treatment pursuant to "Standards of Care" published by the Harry Benjamin International Gender Dysphoria Association, Inc. The Standards of Care establish a "triadic treatment sequence" for treatment. This triadic treatment sequence is comprised of: (1) hormone therapy; (2) a real-life experience of living as a member of the opposite sex; and, (3) sex reassignment surgery.

- "often medically necessary" for "properly selected adults with gender identity disorders." "They improve the quality of life and limit the psychiatric comorbidity, which often accompanies lack of treatment." The administration of hormones to a transsexual typically diminishes co-existing serious psychological problems such as depression and suicidality. As the Standards of Care explain: "Hormone therapy can provide significant comfort to gender patients who do not wish to cross live or undergo surgery, or who are unable to do so. In some patients, hormone therapy alone may provide sufficient symptomatic relief to abviate the need for cross living or surgery."
- 35. Pursuant to the Standards of Care, after at least one year of a real-life experience, including hormones, sex reassignment surgery is medically indicated in some individuals. The Standards of Care state that: "Sex reassignment is effective and medically indicated in severer GID in persons diagnosed with transsexualism or profound GID. Sex reassignment surgery, along with hormone therapy and real-life experience, is a treatment that has proven to be effective. Such a therapeutic regimen, when prescribed or recommended by qualified practitioners, is medically indicated and medically necessary. Sex reassignment is not "experimental", "investigational", "elective", "cosmetic", or optional in any meaningful sense. It constitutes very effective and appropriate treatment for transsexualism or profound GID.
- 36. Mental health services are provided by VADOC as well under contract with Dr. Codispoti, Gender Identity Specialist.

- 37. Nearly six years after the settlement in the Western District Court, the VADOC has been giving De'lonta limited treatment for GID. During the course of treatment, medical and mental health staff informed De'lonta if she stopped self-injury she would receive surgery. De'lonta began treatment with hormones during the winter of 2004, commencing the one year "real-life test" required by the Standards of Care. She has been dressing and living as a woman to the full extent permitted by VADOC. She has developed breasts as a result of hormone treatment.
- 38. Under Standards of Care, De'lonta should have been evaluated for sex reassignment surgery after a one year real-life test. At the conclusion of one year on hormones, nothing occurred. De'lonta's mental health professional, Chief Psychiatrist Meredith R. Cary, and also Mental Health Director Dr. Robin L. Hulbert, were unwilling to give any information regarding her treatment plan, despite De'lonta's persistent requests. (See Exhibit A)
- 39. Despite repeated requests from De'lonta and intervention by her counsel, De'lonta has not received an evaluation concerning readiness for sex reassignment surgery.
- 40. The defendants, by failing to provide adequate medical treatment for De'lonta, have disregarded her serious medical need and placed her at a substantial risk of serious medical harm.

 De'lonta has been diagnosed by physicians retained by the VADOC as having a serious medical need. She has been denied adequate medical care the very care recommended by the VADOC retained experts for her serious medical need.
- 41. The defendants, who are officials responsible for making the relevant decisions regarding D'lonta's care, are aware, based on information they have received from recommendations of experts, that a serious risk of harm exists, and the defendants have drawn the inference that such a risk exists. Nonetheless, the defendants have behaved wantonly by failing to provide adequate medical care. (See Exhibits β).

- 42. The defendants are acting in bad faith and do not perceive any genuine conflict between providing adequate medical treatment and "security" concerns.
- 43. The defendants' treatment decisions regarding De'lonta were not based on her unique circumstances or an individualized medical evaluation of De'lonta, but rather were based on a choice made for political rather than medical reasons. The defendants' reasons for denying medical treatment are not rooted in legitimate penological concerns.
- 44. The defendants have knowingly and unreasonably disregarded an intolerable risk of harm to De'lonta and will continue to do so unless injunctive relief is entered. (See Exhibits B, C, A). De'lonta has written each defendant personally, expressing her fear of self-castration and noting that she will remain at serious risk of harm if treatment is not forthcoming.

COUNT I

DENIAL OF ADEQUATE MEDICAL TREATMENT WITH DELIBERATE INDIFFERENCE TO SERIOUS MEDICAL NEED IN VIOLATION OF THE EIGHTH AMENDMENT.

45. The plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations of Paragraphs 1 through 43 as if fully set forth herein.

- 46. De'lonta has a serious medical need for full treatment in accordance with the discretion of her treating physician and medical personnel, including the recommendations of consulting physicians in the treatment of GID.
- 47. De'lonta's serious medical need has not been treated and she has been denied full treatment, including sex reassiginment surgery.
- 48. Defendants have been deliberately indifferent to De'lonta's serious medical needs and have denied her treatment for reasons that are unrelated to her medical needs or to legitimate security concerns. Defendants know that medical experts consider De'lonta to be at risk for serious medical harm and have knowingly disregarded that risk.
- 49. Defendants' denial of medically necessary care for De'lonta constitutes deliberate indifference to her serious medical needs and cruel and unusual punishment, in violation of De'lonta's rights under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 and the Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution.
- 50. De'lonta faces a substantial and imminent risk of serious medical harm.

COUNT II

DENIAL OF DUE PROCESS AND DELIBERATE INDIFFERENCE TO DENIAL OF EQUAL PROTECTION IN VIOLATION OF THE FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT.

51. The plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations of Paragraphs 1 through 50 as if fully set forth herein.

- 52. De'lonta's complaints are brought pursuant to the Fourteenth Amendment, to deny access to any such service to any individual, or to differentiate adversely in relation to any individual, on a prohibited ground of discrimination.
- 53. There is no dispute that discrimination on the basis of transsexualism constitutes sex discrimination as well as discrimination on the basis of a disability.
- 54. VADOC policy requiring that anatomically male prisoners be held in male institutions clearly has an adverse, differential effect on pre-operative male to female transsexual inmates. Non-transsexual inmates are placed in prisons in accordance with both their anatomical sex and their gender. Transsexual inmates, however, are placed in accordance with their anatomical sex, but not their gender.
- 55. VADOC's justification for its refusal to allow preoperative transsexuals to be placed in institutions in accordance with their target gender is highly impressionistic. The VADOC contention that pre-operative male to female transsexuals cannot be placed in female prisons because of the reaction of female inmates is extremely troubling, as it gives legitimacy to the prejudicial attitudes of others, which attitudes are based upon fear and misinformation.
- 56. Insofar as the risk that would be posed to female inmates if they were required to share facilities with a pre-operative male to female transsexual is concerned, non-consensual sexual activities occur now in both male and female institutions.
- 57. Transsexuals in transition who are living as members of the desired sex should be considered to be members of that sex for the purposes of human rights protected by the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Pre-operative male to female transsexuals should be treated as women and housed accordingly.

- 58. VADOC has, and continues its practice of discriminating attitudes of female inmates to preclude the placement of preoperative male to female transsexuals in female prisons, is one which accords with a line of human rights jurisprudence concerning customer preference as a defense to an allegation of discrimination.
- 59. It is, however, indeed no defense to a complaint of discrimination that an employer or service provider acted in a discriminatory fashion because of the demands of his or her customers.
- 60. Accordingly, VADOC does not provide transsexual inmates the level of health care provided to other inmates.
- 61. VADOC has failed to recogenize the special vulnerability of the pre-operative transexual inmate population within the various types of facilities available in the male prison system.
- 62. As the Director and final policy maker, defendants

 Johnson, Mental Health Services Robin Hulbert, and Chief

 Psychiatrist Cary have known, and continue to know yet disregard an excessive risk to De'lonta's health and safety by intentionally providing an easier or cheaper, but much less effective, course of treatment.

PRAYERS FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, plaintiff requests that this court:

- 1) Enter injunctive relief against the defendants enjoining them from interfering with the discretion of the mental health and other medical professionals involved in her care.
- 2) Enter injunctive relief against defendants enjoining them to provide adequate medical care to De'lonta, following the Benjamin Standard of Care, guided by a gender certified specialist, experienced in treating gender identity disorder, including sex reassignment surgery.
- 3) Award monetary damages against all defendants herein for compensatory and punitive purposes in the amount of One Hundred Thousand Dollars each.
- 4) Award such other relief as shall be requested in the interests of justice.

DECLARATION

Plaintiff hereby declares under penalty of perjury that the statements of the foregoing action are true and correct to the best of plaintiff's knowledge and belief.
